EXECUTIVE STAFF

BARAK BOMANI

Executive Director & Co-Creator

Barak is the Executive Director & Co-Creator of Uneath and Empower Communities. He and his partner Sara create pathways to college, employment and entrepreneurship for Compton youth through engagement with STEM education and the arts. Barak, a revolutionary educator who disrupts broken educational systems, was handpicked to be the founding principal of a charter school in Oakland, CA (first high school built in over 40 years). Bomani and his team of educators created a school culture where 100% of senior graduates, African American and Latino students, earned at least one acceptance letter to a four-year college. A huge advocate of social emotional learning and what he calls heart, mind & soul work, Bomani curates safe and healthy spaces for communities to heal from trauma and to re-imagine a culture of living free in a diverse world. Bomani is a 3-time business owner, community activist, artist, published author & songwriter, cook, worship leader and lover of tennis. Barak earned his Bachelor of Arts in English from Dartmouth College and his Master of Arts in Educational Leadership & Supervision from San Jose State University, where he graduated with highest honors. He is married and has two sons.

SARA BOMANI

Co-Cretor & Director of Programming

Sara Bomani is the Co-Creator & Director of Programming for Uneath and Empower Communities. This UEC vision started in 2008 when she first volunteered to teach art in her friend's classroom in the Compton Unified School District. With a bachelors in Graphic Design and a masters in Arts Education from Cal State Long Beach, Sara loves to share her artistry that she learned from her mother while growing up. Sara has created art camps and workshops that have served over 1,000 youth in Paramount, Long Beach and Compton over the past 13 years. As a business owner of Color Your World Design Studios, she has created art and gardening classes for homeschooled youth as well as providing graphic design services for over 20 years. One of the treasures we appreciate about Sara is how she always finds a way to include all kids regardless of their abilities to create art.
